INVITATION FOR PUBLIC COMMENTS

PURSUANT to section 59 of the Environmental Management and Co-ordination Act, 1999, the National Environment Management Authority (NEMA) has received an Environmental Impact Assessment Study Report for the above proposed project.

The proponent, Chuanshan International Mining Company Limited, is proposing to undertake diatomite mining and processing. The project will consist of construction of a Go down and installation of processing equipment, mining area diesel fuel tank, residential section for staff with recreation facility (basketball court), a store, parking area, a workshop and a perimeter fence among other facilities on plot L.R No. BCG/LS-203/2014 Katikit village, Kositei Sub-location, Tiaty West Sub-County, Baringo County.

The following are the anticipated impacts and proposed mitigation measures:

Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Surface and ground water contamination in all phases of the project.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Hydrocarbon storage areas with bunded bays and fuelling stations with sufficient bunding and retention structures will be constructed. • Hydrocarbon traps and a fuel station drainage system will be in place for water treatment prior to release to the surface water runoff system. • All equipment using hydraulic fluid (oil, fuel, etc.), will be subject to a preventative maintenance programme. • Runoff water with a large sediment load will be captured and directed via berms or ditches towards sediment control structures. • Perimeter storm drains will divert surface water runoff. • Roads will be maintained regularly. • Appropriate standard operating procedures (SOPs) and best practice will be followed during removal and disposal

Impacts	Mitigation Measures	Impacts	Mitigation Measures
Soil quality deterioration–contamination, Loss of soil fertility, Soil nutrient loss.	of hazardous or toxic materials storage facilities and decommissioning of structures/facilities. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Limiting the area of impact to as small a footprint as possible. Opting for areas with less sensitive soil groups to construct the facility and associated infrastructure. Instilling an awareness programme regarding soil management over the length of the mining operation. The development and inclusion of soil management as part of the general housekeeping operations. Concurrent rehabilitation of all affected sites that are not required for the operation. Effective cladding of the berms and soil stockpiles/heaps with vegetation or large rock fragments, and the minimising of topsoil height; and Restriction of vehicle movement over unprotected or sensitive areas, as well as areas that fall outside of the infrastructure footprints. 	materials should take place with a minimum height of fall, and be shielded against the wind, and consider use of dust suppression spray systems. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Conveyor systems for dusty materials should be covered and equipped with measures for cleaning return belts.
Biodiversity–Habitat loss, fragmentation, degradation, invasive species	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Re-vegetation of bare areas using native plant species and ensuring that a mix of similar habitats as was there previously. The extent of vegetation clearance should not exceed proposed area's surface to be cleared. Vegetation that is removed should not be burnt but shredded and left on the ground in suitable areas to decompose (preferably in soil stockpiles areas). Physically removing or scaring away animals immediately before clearance commences. Restore surrounding habitats to cleared areas to compensate habitat loss. Adoption of the noise mitigation strategy set out in the noise section. Prohibition of transportation of live or dead animals, plants or seeds in Project related vehicles. Train staff to recognise key invasive species. 	Noise – Effect on environment, causing hearing impairment and affects quality of life <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Implementation of enclosure and cladding of processing plants. Installation of proper sound barriers and/or noise containments, with enclosures and curtains at or near the source equipment (e.g. crushers, grinders, and screens). Installation of natural barriers at facility boundaries, such as vegetation curtains or soil berms. Optimization of internal- traffic routing, particularly to minimize vehicle reversing needs (reducing noise from reversing alarm) and to maximize distances to the closest sensitive receptors.
Air quality – Human health effects from particulate matter and emissions into the air	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Dust suppression techniques (e.g. wetting down, use of all-weather surfaces, use of agglomeration additives) for roads and work areas, optimization of traffic patterns, and reduction of travel speeds. Exposed soils and other erodible materials should be re-vegetated or covered promptly. New areas should be cleared and opened-up only when absolutely necessary. Surfaces should be re-vegetated or otherwise rendered non-dust forming when inactive. Storage for dusty materials should be enclosed or operated with efficient dust suppressing measures. Loading, transfer, and discharge of 	Traffic and Transportation <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Reduce the likelihood of continued degradation from occurring, to the detriment of existing road users. Reduce the likelihood of additional expenditure on routine vehicle maintenance. Reduce the likelihood of spillages or accidents occurring.
